Education Course Guidelines

1. Introduction

The outline information contained in this document is intended to help you plot your course of study to Diploma level and subsequently to the full BTEC HNC in Cemetery & Crematorium Management in the coming years. The new structure to the Institute's qualification also allows you to use these qualifications should you decide to progress to a higher level, including Degree. The new ICCM Diploma is also part of the Ofqual Regulated Qualifications Framework (RQF).

In order to help you to be able to enrol on a Unit(s) you must do two things.

1. Apply to become an Associate Member of the Institute
2. Enrol on the Unit(s) that you wish to tackle first.

Application forms are at the back of this document.

2. Structure of the Diploma

The ICCM Diploma is the only specialised qualification currently available to those employed within the Burial and Cremation Service. Units 1-8 as listed below are accredited by Pearson (previously Edexcel) at BTEC HNC standard. To gain the Diploma you will need to complete 4 compulsory core units plus 3 of the 4 remaining business units therefore an element of choice is available. As a Diploma holder of the ICCM it demonstrates not only possession of an academic qualification, but also recognises an individual's character and commitment to developing his or her own management competencies in what is a very specialised field of work.

Compulsory Units	Option Units (choose 3)
Cemetery Management	Natural Burial Ground Management
Crematorium Management	Identifying Entrepreneurial Opportunities
Cemetery & Crematorium Law	Marketing Essentials
Managing Operations & Teams	Understanding & Leading Change

In considering the options for study detailed in these guidelines you should be aware that you do not need to commit yourself to studying the whole diploma course. You may wish to only study one or two of the Units that are appropriate to your own career aspirations, it is advisable, however that should you aspire to manage a service then you should obtain the ICCM Certificate relevant to the service you aspire to manage. This is considered as the minimum standard required for a service manager.

Upon starting to study you will need to register as an Associate Member with the ICCM. Your progress will then be monitored as you progress through your studies. It will be expected that your studies for the ICCM Cemetery, Crematorium Office Manager's Certificate should be completed within two years and your studies for the Diploma should be completed within five years. If you have not completed your studies after five years then you will need to re-register. There will be an additional charge for this and may also be a requirement for students to 'convert' an older qualification. This will be decided upon re-registration.

There are three distinct stages to the ICCM qualifications, these are as follows:

2.1 ICCM Certificates

On completion of the required combination of core Units students will be awarded the ICCM Certificate for either Cemetery, Crematorium or Office Management as indicated below:

- ICCM Certificate in Cemetery Management:

Cemetery Management
Cemetery & Crematorium Law
Managing Operations and Teams

- ICCM Certificate in Crematorium Management:

Crematorium Management
Cemetery & Crematorium Law
Managing Operations and Teams

- ICCM Certificate in Natural Burial Ground Management:

Natural Burial Ground Management
Cemetery & Crematorium Law
A choice of one of the other Option units

Studying for an ICCM Certificate should be completed within a two year period to obtain the qualification.

(Note that a separate Diploma in the Management of Natural Burial Grounds is available. See the Natural Burial Grounds Diploma Handbook)

2.2 ICCM Diploma

Studying for the ICCM Diploma should be completed within a five year period, inclusive of the two years study for the Certificate.

Those achieving the Diploma will be awarded their qualification by the President of the Institute at the annual Learning Convention.

2.3 Full BTEC HNC in Cemetery & Crematorium Management (ICCM Diploma with Honours)

An ICCM Diploma with honours will be awarded to students who achieve an overall Distinction grade for their HNC.

Whilst each individual Unit can be studied in isolation and successful completion will result in a level of competence in the subject, they inevitably overlap and indeed compliment each other. In planning their approach to study, students are advised to attempt no more than 3 Units in one year.

Those that achieve the full BTEC HNC can use the units to count toward further higher qualifications such as HND and Degree

3. Certification

Upon completion of each Unit, students will be entitled to a completion Certificate issued by the ICCM. BTEC HNC certificates are also issued by Pearson for all Diploma Units.

4. Method of Study

Stratford Business School in partnership with the ICCM provides all of the Units and support and guidance to those studying any of the above Units, including the thesis. The primary method of study with the Stratford Business School is by distance learning. There are no formal examinations; assessment is based on coursework assignments, which are part of a Student Study Pack. On completion to the required standard, students will be awarded a pass in the unit.

4.1 The Seminar

A residential seminar takes place annually (normally during February/March) and in recent years has been held at an educational centre in the Midlands. The seminar is an integral part of the education course and provides opportunities for both formal and informal learning.

Teaching Teams from Stratford Business School attend the seminar and are available for individual tutorials. This is an ideal opportunity for students to discuss their work in detail with their tutor and fellow students.

In addition to this, for most of the Units, you will have an opportunity to complete an assignment during the seminar. This will involve group working, under the direction of a tutor and you will have your work graded when you complete the assignment towards the end of the seminar.

In addition to the teaching team, other speakers are invited from both the ICCM and from other associated professions.

The value of the seminar in terms of contacts made with other students should not be underestimated. The Institute consists of its members who, whilst often working in isolation or small groups, can rely on the network of contacts with other like-minded professionals.

Each student will receive details about the seminar, the fees and an application form, after commencement of the course.

4.2 Study and conversion days

Special study and conversion days have been held periodically and according to demand. These days will be periods of intense study, supported by SBS tutors, followed by assessments on the Units or conversion assignments opted for. All students are informed of dates and venues.

Stratford Business School tutors are available to offer guidance and support as students work through the Study Pack and prepare for the assignments.

For all Units, a pass will count towards both ICCM Diploma and a BTEC higher national certificate in business.

5. Enrolment

Enrolment on any of the Units must be done through the ICCM National Office. This can be done at any point in the year.

After enrolment the student will receive a letter of confirmation together with an invoice. Following payment of the invoice the student details will be passed to the Stratford Business School who will forward Study Pack(s) and assignment details.

Students are asked to take personal responsibility for ensuring that the invoice is passed to the appropriate section of their authority or company for prompt payment.
